Letter of Recommendation

Patrick Casiano Santiago took part in various courses from my department of Political Theory. The courses ranged from my own introduction to Political Theory part I and II, to courses taught by other teachers under my auspices. These courses include an introduction to Political Science, methods about empirical political research, and a course about anarchism as a political ideology. I took the time to both consider his academic abilities myself and to consult my assistant teachers.

We came to the conclusion that his interest in Political Science is far above average and we are happy that he chose this subject which suits both his personal interests and his professional goals. We strongly support Patrick's plans to study in Israel. We are especially pleased to do so because it is very rare that one of our students desires to study there, despite the enormous importance of Middle Eastern affairs in the discipline of International Relations.

We strongly recommend him to your university and hope that he will be one of our first students in Israel. If there should be any further questions about Patrick Casiano Santiago either as a person or as a student we would be glad to give you further information.

Sincerely Yours,

Prof. Dr. Henning Ottmann
